Paige Brown's parents Phil and Lou want to spend the money they would have spent on Paige for presents for sick children - and they are encouraging other people to donate to their appeal. Here they are pictured with son Kailun.

■ BY NICK AMES

A CHARITY to raise money for sick children in hospital at holiday times such as Christmas has been set up in memory of tragic Paige Brown, who died on New Year's Day after accidentally hanging herself.

The four-year-old girl's savings of £600 have also been donated to help fund the Kent Air Ambulance, whose crews battled to save Paige's life following the accident in Hawkinge.

Parents Phil Brown, 33, and Lou Ford, 26, said they want to spend the money they would have spent on Paige for presents for sick children - and they are encouraging other people to donate to their appeal.

The couple have set up a website called www.thepaigebrowntrustfund.com, which tells how the little girl's tragedy unfolded, as well as giving people the opportunity to donate.

Local people are also planning to plant a cherry tree as a memorial later this year.

Phil was the person who discovered his daughter dead in her room. He said: "Every day, every minute it is with me. The image of what I saw will never leave me."

Lou said: "We want to do something to keep Paige's memory going. We always spent money on her during periods such as a birthday, Christmas or Easter. But rather than just buy presents and hoard them, we felt it would be good to give them to other unfortunate children such as those with cancer."

Inquest into 'freak' death of young girl

■ BY ROB LIVINGSTONE

THE father of Paige Brown has told the inquest into her death how he desperately tried to revive his daughter after finding her hanging from her hair-band.

Philip Brown told Ashford Coroner's Court on Thursday last week how what should have been a normal family meal on New Year's Day turned into a tragedy.

Four-year-old Paige had been playing in her room at the family's home in Blenheim Drive, Hawkinge, on Tuesday, January 1, while her parents prepared lunch for the girl and her younger brother.

Mr Brown told the inquest he had called for Paige to come down to eat, before going upstairs to find she was hanging by her hair-band from her hammock for soft toys.

"Her feet were just touching the floor, as if she was up on tippy-toes," Mr Brown told the inquest.

While Paige's mother, Lou Ford, phoned the emergency services, Mr Brown said he had tried to resuscitate his daughter.

"I took her down and tried to bring her back to life," he said.

Mr Brown said Paige had been upset earlier that day after she had managed to tie her hair-band to the hammock so tightly her mother had to undo the knot with nail scissors.

He also described how he saw a child's stool had been left just behind where Paige was hanging.

When asked by the coroner if Paige might have been standing on the stool to reach the hammock, Mr Brown said she could have been.

Det Sgt Chris Benson from Folkestone police told the inquest how police had been on the scene before the ambulance service because the call to emergency services had been logged as a domestic disturbance due to the distraught

DISTRAUGHT: Paige's parents Philp Brown and Lou Ford outside the inquest nature of Ms Ford's phone call. Police officers had carried out CPR (cardiopulmonary resuscitation) on Paige until the ambulance crew arrived, said Det Sgt Benson.

The pathologist who carried out the post-mortem examination, Dr Charles Lawson, told the inquest Paige had died from "from compression of the neck due to suspension".

He said Paige would have probably lost consciousness quickly but that bruises to the back of her hands indicated she may have struggled with the hair-band.

The coroner, Rachel Redman, recorded a verdict of accidental death.

"This was an entirely unpredicted, freakish death," she told Paige's parents, adding that she did not believe they could have done anything to prevent the accident.

"I cannot begin to imagine your pain. There was nothing you could have done and you have my sincere condolences."

NEWS IN BRIEF

Councils get update

A LOCAL government official was given an update on the way four east Kent councils are working when he visited Shepway.

Sir Simon Milton, chairman of the Local Government Association and leader of Westminster City Council, met leaders and chief executives of Shepway, Dover, Thanet and Canterbury councils in Folkestone.

"Sir Simon talked to us about Local Area Agreements and Local Strategic Partnerships and brought us up to date with developments in local government," said Shepway leader Robert Bliss.

Pregnancy courses

PARENTS-to-be in Shepway can get ready for their new arrivals with the help of a new antenatal course.

The National Childbirth Trust (NCT) sessions will prepare parents for the birth of their children by offering the latest information about childbirth, as well as peer support and the opportunity to ask any questions they may have.

The courses last between six and eight weeks and allow couples to find out more about pregnancy in a welcoming and friendly environment.

For details, phone 07707 999017, or email bookings4i@nct.org.uk.

Silverware found

A HOLDALL of silverware found near Marine Crescent in Folkestone has caused a mystery for the town's police.

The contents of the bag include a carriage clock, marked as having been made by 'Chas Frodsham, clockmaker to HM the King', as well as several teapots and candleholders.

There was also a silver tray which features the engraving 'Presented to ex comp. J.F.Weir in appreciation of his services as M.E.Z of the London Chapter No. 3427 1965-66'.

Police want to hear from anyone who may be able to identify the owner.

Phone police on 01303 289271.

Golden opportunity

THERE is an opportunity to learn more about French jewel houses.

The Folkestone Decorative and Fine Arts Society will look at the stylistic developments of the major French jewel houses, and examine how designs have been influenced by recent events.

The lecture will be given by historian Patricia Law, and will be held at the Tower Theatre in Shorncliffe tomorrow (Thursday) at 7pm.

For more information, phone 01303 237758, or email folkestone@nadfaskentarea.org.uk.

Shot Gurkha thrown out of the Army

A GURKHA who served Britain for 18 years has been dumped from the Army – leaving him homeless with just £100 to start a new life.

Rifleman Padan Limbu, 39, was handed the sum in cash and told to find a bedsit after being ordered out of Shorncliffe barracks in Folkestone.

Padan, who is now staying with friends in Folkestone's Gurkha community, said: "It's really bad – I can't believe it. I have given 18 years of my life to serving Britain and the British government – and I can't believe how I have been treated."

"Every human being deserves to have food and shelter – and I am being denied that."

He had been left unable to serve on the frontline after being hit in the back of his calf by a stray bullet during a training exercise five years ago – and says his pleas for an Army desk job were repeatedly turned down.

■ BY NICK DORMAN

The former soldier, who can barely stand and walks with a limp, says he was "tricked" into signing his release forms and told he faced being sent back to Nepal – and would have to pay his own airfare.

He is now preparing to take the Army to an employment tribunal with the help of ex-servicemen's charity the Gurkha Welfare Trust.

At the moment he will be forced to find his rent, food and other living costs out of his army pension of about £130 per month.

His tale comes less than six months after the British government hailed a victory for the Gurkhas – announcing that all who had joined up after July 1997 would receive a pension equal to their British counterparts.

But Padan said: "The British government likes to say things have improved for the Gurkhas, but what has happened to me shows that there are still a lot of problems for us."

Padan served in the war zones of East Timor and Bosnia during his career, which came to an end when he was accidentally shot during an exercise in Canada in September 2002.

He said: "I was on crutches for four-and-a-half years while I tried to recover. I asked for a transfer of job, but the Army would not give me one."

"I was just told that if I didn't sign my discharge papers I would be deported – but that if I did then they would look after me."

Gurkha rights campaigner Peter Carroll, a Liberal Democrat parliamentary candidate, said: "Everyone who knows the part the Gurkhas play will be horrified by this."

An MoD spokesman said: "Rifleman Limbu had received a pension and had been discharged at the end of his normal service, which was extended because of his particular circumstances. Soldiers have the right to submit a redress of complaint should they wish to do so."

QUEEN AND COUNTRY: Rifleman Padan Limbu has to rely on the kindness of friends after he was discharged from the Army following a shooting accident that left him disabled

Ace of a show

A GROUP of former art students will be exhibiting their work at the George House Gallery in Folkestone.

The House of Aces is a collective of graduates from the Kent Institute of Art and Design who will be displaying their work at the gallery between until Wednesday, April 2.

Dan Burrows, founder member of the House of Aces, said that the intention was to establish a platform for ex-KIAD students to show their work.

"We want this to become a regular thing, so every year artists from KIAD have the opportunity to get their artwork seen."

Movie pirates in the Channel

A NEW film on the history of pirate radio and the romance it brought to the high seas has just finished location shooting off the Channel coast.

The Boat That Rocked is the story of the DJs and station which brought pop music to England at a time when the airwaves were dominated by easy listening and traditional jazz.

It is based on the true story of Radio Caroline and footage using a trawler representing the offshore broadcasting vessel Mi Amigo was shot off the Channel coast.

Philip Seymour Hoffman and Bill Nighy are the latest stars to climb aboard ship in the film, directed by Richard Curtis.

Kenneth Branagh and January Jones have also joined the cast, which includes Rhys Ifans.

Hoffman is being lined up to play DJ The Count – a fast-talking American – while Ifans will play another DJ and Jones will portray a US visitor who falls in love with one of the radio personalities.

Branagh is to portray a stuff-shirt Government official named Dormandy who vows to clamp down on the pirates. A movie insider said: "This film captures the country on the brink of the pop revolution when young people were being exposed to new music from Radio Caroline and Radio Luxembourg."

"Bands like the Rolling Stones, The Who, The Animals and The Yardbirds all owed some of their success to the pirates who also played American soul and rock."

"The film tells the story of the DJs who brought the music into people's homes and their battles with the establishment – before they joined the BBC and worked on the fledgling Radio One."

The original Radio Caroline started broadcasting in 1964 from a ship anchored in international waters off the coast of Suffolk.

It was unlicensed by any government for most of its life.

Although one of a number of unlicensed radio stations based on ships anchored off Britain, Radio Caroline was the first such station to broadcast all day in English.

A legal, onshore version of Radio Caroline continues to broadcast via satellite and over the internet.

NEWS IN BRIEFSupermarket doubles donation to coast group

A SHOPWORKER from Folkestone has raised £200 for a voluntary group thanks to a little help from her supermarket employer.

Bernie Pay, who works at the Park Farm branch of Sainsbury's, had gathered £100 by collecting used postal stamps for the National Coastwatch Institution, a voluntary organisation that covers Britain's shores.

Thanks to Sainsbury's Local Heroes scheme, Bernie was able to double her donation to the NCI, which was established in 1994 after many small coast-guard stations were closed.

The NCI watchkeepers provide visual cover along the coast, as well as monitoring radio channels, in their efforts to safeguard the lives of mariners.

The group is now recognised by the Maritime Coastguard Agency as being part of the official search-and-rescue that help keeps Britain's coasts safe.

A spokesman for the NCI said: "We are extremely grateful to Bernie for her fund-raising efforts and to her employers for generously matching her donation."

"Bernie has been supporting us for around five years, ever since her husband Graham joined the NCI."

Park Farm store manager Iain Swift said that Sainsbury's had been more than happy to match Bernie's donation to the life-saving organisation.

"We were delighted to be able to support Bernie's efforts to raise money for the NCI," he said.

"It is exactly the sought of thing the Local Heroes scheme was set up to support."

Vandals target homes in neighbouring villages

POLICE are hunting a group of vandals who have targeted houses in Greatstone and Lydd.

An estimated £1,000 damage has been caused to properties in Taylor Road and Williamson Road in Lydd and on The Parade in Greatstone.

The louts have smashed double-glazing and fencing at homes in the two villages over the course of seven weeks.

PC Lee Jordan, of Kent police, appealed to the public for information.

"These mindless acts of vandalism, which no doubt seem like a laugh at the time for the offenders, cause considerable inconvenience and cost to the owners."

"I would like to speak to anyone who may have information about this to contact me on 07870 252473, or to phone Kent Crimestoppers on 0800 555111."

Web cook-a-long gives you the dish of the day

THE opportunity to cook alongside a top restaurant chef in your own home doesn't come along every day of the week.

Well – now it does, thanks to a new series of features on our free broadband TV channel www.yourkenttv.co.uk.

We sent a video crew along to a top restaurant to learn how to cook one of its best-loved dishes – and now you can log-on and cook-a-long too.

We know that fish is good for us, and that we should eat a lot more of it.

It's an excellent source of protein, vitamins and minerals, and oily fish is particularly nutritious containing high levels of the fatty acid, omega-3.

However, it doesn't change the fact that even some of the most experienced in the kitchen, find the idea of cooking it daunting.

We're blessed with an abundance of fresh seafood here in Kent, with some of the best being hauled into quayside markets. One of these is based in the big shed on Whitstable quay, with the Crab & Winkle Restaurant directly above it.

Head chef at the restaurant is Ben Walton, whose passion for all things edible from the sea, comes from his training in a Relais & Chateaux-listed seafood restaurant on the coast of Normandy, France.

This invaluable experience led him to work in some of the country's premier kitchens, and he now runs his own in Whitstable, but what made him choose this corner of Kent?

He explained: "It's a beautiful place. As a chef it's important to be close to the source of the product you're cooking."

"We get lovely fish here, and we're associated with the fish market downstairs. We can go down and see what the fishermen are bringing in, we're a little bit spoilt on what we can lay our hands on."

So why is it that so many people are nervous of cooking this essential ingredient?

"They don't know what to do with it," says Ben, "to begin with we should always try and keep it simple."

"If you're worried about bones, get the fishmonger to fillet it properly for you."

So, is it really that difficult to cook?

Ben agreed to let me into his busy kitchen to try my hand at cooking one of the restaurant's headline dishes – pan-fried mackerel with a warm bacon and potato salad.

With a quick outline from Ben, the recipe seemed relatively straightforward.

But is there an essential tip he could help us with when making the meal at home?

"When cooking, try and err on the side of caution," Ben warned, "don't over cook it, there's nothing worse than dried-out fish."

Log-on to www.yourkenttv.co.uk to cook the dish for yourself.

...AND THIS IS HOW TO DO IT

If you want to try it for yourself, log onto www.yourkenttv.co.uk and cook-along with Ben Walton from the Crab & Winkle.

We will be visiting some of the leading restaurants in the county, guided through recipes, preparation and cooking of culinary delights.

The ingredients you need to cook-a-long with our very own Julie Maddocks are below. To find the clip search for 'Maddocks'.

MACKEREL, BACON AND POTATO SALAD (to feed 4)

4 large mackerel fillets

100g bacon

300g new potatoes (cooked)

300g green leaf vegetables (eg. broccoli, cabbage)

4 sprigs fresh thyme

Juice of two lemons

100ml olive oil

100g butter

White pepper

Flaked sea salt

YOU CAN HELP: It is up to every single one of us to do our bit to protect the Earth for future generations

Join the Saturday night switch-off and help save our planet

MAJOR landmarks across the country will be plunged into darkness on Saturday as part of an international campaign to raise awareness of global warming.

Earth Hour strikes at 8pm on Saturday – and for one-hour businesses, historic sites, and homes will turn off non-essential lighting.

And this newspaper urges all our readers to show solidarity with the campaign and switch off their lighting for 60 minutes.

Created to take a stand against 'the greatest threat our planet has ever faced', Earth Hour will roll out across the world with a host of major cities committing to the campaign.

Driving awareness of Earth Hour locally is commercial radio station Invicta FM. It has transformed March into 'Green Month' with a series of special features to encourage people to alter their lifestyles.

Marketing manager Richard Roberts explained: "We want people to realise that by making slight changes to the way they live, they can make a real difference to protecting the environment."

"It's easy to do and it's the right thing to do."

"We know turning the lights off for an hour will not change the world, but it is a symbolic gesture to raise awareness of some key issues which effect us all."

■ BY NICK AMES

Among those landmarks flicking the off-switch will be Canterbury Cathedral, Bluewater shopping complex, Gillingham FC's Priestfield stadium, the University of Kent, Strawberry Moons nightclub in Maidstone and the offices of KOS Media – publishers of this newspaper.

And it is hoped thousands of homes will join in too.

Added Mr Roberts: "Almost half of the UK's carbon dioxide emissions, the main greenhouse gas which causes climate change, actually come from the things we do every day. Things like leaving lights on unnecessarily or overfilling the kettle all waste energy and result in needless carbon dioxide emissions."

One of Invicta FM's stunts saw breakfast show co-host James Heming buy a £500 van and convert it to running on chip fat – provided by the county's fish 'n' chip shops. He took it on a tour of the county and then all the way to the capital of France – Paris.

• Join in Earth Hour this Saturday – March 29 – by turning lights off from 8pm until 9pm.

Watch DJ James head green drive

IF you missed seeing Invicta FM star James Heming cruising the county in his chip fat-powered yellow van – never fear, simply log-on to our free, broadband TV channel www.yourkenttv.co.uk.

Before embarking on his trip to France as part of the station's Green Month, he called into the offices of this newspaper to let us know how we can change our lifestyles to help protect the environment.

To see the interview and the van in action, go to www.yourkenttv.co.uk and search for 'Invicta'.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Costs of care for the elderly set to rocket

LONG-TERM care for the elderly is expected to double in cost over the next 20 years, according to a study by Saga.

Research by the Folkestone-based company found the average cost of a four-year stay in a care home will rise from £112,312 to £223,476 by 2028.

Increasing life expectancy means a 60-year-old man will live, on average, for another 26 years, with women living for another 29 years.

This means more people will need some form of care in the future, according to the research. Saga chief executive Andrew Goodsell said that with one in five people aged 85 or over living in a care home, more people would be struggling to fund their retirement.

"Long-term care can be the biggest financial burden on a person's life, but the whole issue of care is rarely considered and talked about among families until the need arises," he said.

"Tens of thousands of people will face the problem of paying for their care, but only one in 10 will ask for help with how to pay for it."

Air cadets volunteer is saluted for hard work

A VOLUNTEER from Folkestone has been recognised for his work with air cadets.

Ken Hull, 76, has been involved with the 1921 (Lewisham) Squadron Air Training Corps for more than 40 years.

Mr Hull runs a canteen for the squadron's cadets, as well as acting as a community liaison officer for the group.

He was presented with a Leader Award by the Jack Petchley Foundation, which supports projects for people aged 11-25.

Mr Hull said that he was honoured to have been recognised for his work with the cadets, for which he was given £1,000 to spend on the squadron.

Buy a mosaic tile and help your local sports centre

FOLKESTONE Sports Centre has launched an appeal to generate funds as part of its refurbishment.

The centre will be raising £50,000 through a sponsored tiled mosaic, which will be installed along the wall next to the swimming pool.

The mosaic will have 20,400 tiles, each of which are available for either £50 or £100, and the money raised will be spent on a minibus to help people get to the centre.

To sponsor a tile, phone 01303 850222, or go to www.fsc.mosaicappeal.com.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Maggie's petition to stop lorries blind spot

A TERRIFYING experience has caused a woman from Sandgate to campaign for compulsory lenses on left-hand-drive lorries.

Maggie Shavlane was sideswiped by an Italian lorry she was overtaking in the middle lane of the M20 in February.

The experience left her so profoundly shaken that she launched a petition on the Downing Street website calling for Fresnel lenses to be made compulsory.

A test by the Highways Agency, which saw the lenses handed out for free at Dover and other ports, found that the lenses reduced accidents by 59 per cent.

Life-saving

But a spokesman for the Highways Agency has said that due to "EU vehicle approval regulations" the Government could not force foreign lorry drivers to fit the life-saving lenses to their vehicles.

At present the stick-on lenses are optional for drivers from the Continent.

There were 400 crashes caused by side-swipes in Britain in 2006, according to road safety minister Jim Fitzpatrick.

The Government was looking at ways to issue the lenses across the country, he said.

Maggie's petition on the Downing Street website calls on the Government to make it compulsory for foreign lorries to use the Fresnel lenses when they enter the country as British car drivers' safety is threatened daily.

Michael Howard, MP for Folkestone and Hythe, gave his backing to the campaign to make drivers use the lenses.

"They are not compulsory and I think they should be," he said.

QUESTION & ANSWER

JOHN PATTERSON

Q Tell us about yourself.

A My background is music. I'm probably the worst flute player ever to come out of the Royal College of Music. My parents were both head-teachers and passionate about their chosen profession. The passion rubbed off. I came here from Yorkshire, where for nine years I had been headmaster of Bingley Grammar School, a large and oversubscribed comprehensive school with about 1,900 students.

Q How did you come to be involved with the academy?

A I was contacted by a recruitment company who asked me if I was interested. I had been excited by the way in which the city technology colleges had used innovative approaches to push up standards, and the academies seemed to be taking over this agenda. The Folkestone project was especially exciting because the academy was part of a wider and coherent vision for the regeneration of Folkestone.

Q What does a typical day involve for you?

A I spend a huge amount of time wandering around the academy, walking the walkways and visiting lessons. We aim to have a calm and friendly environment with polite and well-behaved students moving purposefully between lessons, and we want those lessons to be engaging and enjoyable for students and teachers. We all work hard to achieve this, and it is my role, as principal, to ensure we're that getting it right.

I get real enjoyment from seeing good lessons – even just dropping in – and seeing students raise their game to meet the high expectations their teachers have of them.

I also get great enjoyment from discussion and planning with senior colleagues. There's never enough time to do this, and some of the best ideas are discussed on the hoof, but I have the privilege of working with some of the brightest people in the secondary sector, so every conversation tends to provide new ideas and a challenge to what we are currently doing.

Then, of course, there is a huge amount of correspondence and paperwork, which I don't enjoy. I have a wonderful PA called Suzanne who disciplines me and gets me to focus on the most important tasks that need to be completed. I don't think I could do the job without her.

Q What challenges have you faced since the academy opened?

A One of the greatest has been developing high-quality vocational opportunities to match the academic opportunities we provide. We have some of the best A-level teachers in the county and provide scholarships to a number of universities, including the University of Kent, with whom we have a partnership.

But we want equally prestigious and assured routes into apprenticeship training and employment for those students who learn better through practical learning. Our new training kitchen and restaurant, and our hair and beauty studio, both offer training at NVQ levels 1 and 2, and both bring together teams of top professionals to train our students in state-of-the-art facilities.

We are also building new teams in motor vehicle maintenance and construction. Our vision is to have sixth-formers some of whom have university scholarships and some of whom have apprenticeships with top firms. In this way, younger students can have outstanding role models whichever direction they wish to take.

Q Do you have a guiding philosophy?

A Yes – unreasonably high expectations. That means unreasonably high expectations of everything: standards of dress and behaviour, standards of attainment, standards of care for individual students and even, or rather especially, standards of personal development – we want our students to be as socially confident and articulate as the most privileged child in the country.

Q Were you surprised at the number of children applying to join the academy this year?

A We were pleasantly surprised to be over-subscribed so early but were disappointed that some children in our catchment area were not able to gain a place. Having said that, we were always planning to admit 240 students each year with a fully comprehensive mix of ability. Our motto is 'Providing excellence for students of all ability' – and that's precisely what we intend to do.

Q&A John Patterson is the principal of the Folkestone Academy. He explains to reporter Rob Livingstone his philosophy for the institution and why its classes are so popular it has turn away would-be students.

Cheetah on the hunt in Kent countryside

BY NICK AMES

THE first cheetah to be allowed to run through the English countryside made its debut during the Easter weekend.

Nine-month-old Boumani – which means warrior in the language of its native Malawi – became the first big cat in the UK to demonstrate how these magnificent animals hunt in the wild.

The cheetah is the latest addition to the menagerie at Eagle Heights wild animal rescue centre just outside Eynsford on the North Downs.

The animal – native to the plains of Africa – is already attracting a following of fans, and wildlife experts hope he can be “an ambassador for his species”, raising awareness of the plight of these endangered animals.

Jonathan Ames has been training Boumani, who arrived in the UK from a zoo in Germany.

He said: “He came here six months ago and has been around people ever since. He is obviously not fully grown, but it is starting to develop muscles and speed.

“At the moment he is not as quick as he will be when an adult – cheetahs have been timed at being able to go from 0 to 70mph in just three seconds.

“Because of the quarantine laws this has been the first week we have allowed him to go outside – and he has really taken to the countryside.”

Boumani’s “best pal” since arriving in this country has been black Lakeland terrier dog Mr T, and they both continue to play together.

As they knock each other around the cheetah retracts his sharp claws as far as he can.

But outside it is a different story as the big cat – tethered to a harness and static line – hunts down his food via a pulley system which drags along rabbit carcasses at speed.

“We have tried to recreate the hunting situation as closely as possible,” said Jonathan. “So a winch system pulls along a dead rabbit and Boumani gives chase.

“This will be the way we will demonstrate to visitors how a cheetah chases – it is the only such display in the country and the next best thing to a trip to Africa for those with an interest in wildlife.”

SPEED: Like all cats, Boumani likes to get his tummy tickled

Visitors’ fees to Eagle Heights will also be contributing to cheetah charities which help to preserve the endangered species in its natural habitat.

To see Boumani in action watch the video clip on www.yourkenttv.co.uk.

Eagle Heights also has birds of prey, snakes and lizards, and its other new attraction is a porcupine from Africa, for visitors to marvel at.

Have you fallen into a pothole?

HIGHWAYS bosses have urged the public to report any potholes they find to help them assess damaged caused to the county’s roads during winter.

Anyone who can help is asked to dial 08458 247 800 and report highway defects direct. Callers will then be given a call reference number, which will enable them to track their report.

The county’s repairs workforce of 56 highways staff fix about 40,000 potholes and damaged road edges each year.

But highways chiefs say they can’t be everywhere at once, and rely on the support of communities and residents to report potholes and other defects.

Kent Highway Services head of community operations Kim Hills said: “Here in Kent we have one of the largest road networks of any authority in the UK, with a high proportion of rural roads.

“Potholes can form quickly, particularly during the winter months when surface and ground water can be extensive.

“It is important the public inform us when they discover a pothole, so we can deal with it as effectively as possible.”

Minister will let you live longer

THE Government intends to raise life expectancy across Kent by 18 months.

Setting out a new health strategy, the Regional Minister for the South East, Jonathan Shaw, said addressing the inequalities between Kent’s districts would lead to a rise in life expectancy.

The strategy identifies that Kent is generally healthier than the rest of the country, but there are significant differences in life expectancy between districts.

Male life expectancy is lower and the early death rate due to cancer is higher in Thanet than in Canterbury, Dartford, Dover, Shepway and Swale.

Although the proportion of adults who smoke in Kent is low, the figure for Thanet is higher than the national average.

In Medway, the picture is grim.

Men and women in Medway can expect to live shorter lives than the average for London and the South East region as a whole.

C diff victim's relative backs our campaign

BY JENNA PUDELEK

THE son-in-law of one of the 90 patients who died during super-bug outbreaks at hospitals in west Kent has since been campaigning tirelessly for improved hygiene and infection control.

Florrie Field, described by her family as a "very fit and active" 86-year-old, died from Clostridium difficile at Kent and Sussex Hospital in Tunbridge Wells after she contracted the highly infectious diarrhoea bug in May 2006.

Tony Charlton wrote a number of letters to Maidstone and Tunbridge Wells NHS Trust's management and the local press, which anticipated many of the findings of the Healthcare Commission's damning report published last October.

Delighted

This week he welcomed KOS Media's campaign to involve the whole of Kent in improving hygiene and infection control in healthcare centres and hospitals, and at home and places of work across the county.

"I was delighted to see the campaign in the Your midweek newspapers. At last I am optimistic on the hospital front and there have been tremendous strides there [at the trust]. "I have always said that the staff wanted to do the right thing but needed the support and encouragement of management.

AWARENESS: Tony Charlton, with wife Brenda, campaigning to support the hospital clean-up in a bid to prevent spread of infections like C diff, which killed Florrie Field (right) when she was 86

"There is obviously a long way to go to defeat these awful diseases, but the will is clearly now there.

"Now is the time to minimise these infections, because it isn't just a problem in hospitals.

"These infections are everywhere – they are just bound to hit the vulnerable in hospitals," he said.

Mr Charlton has been in regular contact with the Health Secretary Alan Johnson, who last week lent his backing to KOS Media's campaign, since meeting him at Maidstone Hospital in the wake of the health watchdog's report.

He said Mr Johnson's letters had always been open and frank, and that he had shown a determination to beat the bugs not seen in his predecessors.

Mr Charlton, who lives in East Sussex with his wife Brenda, said the one thing he was concerned about was the prevalence of alcohol hand gel in hospitals.

While alcogel kills MRSA, only soap and water removes C diff spores.

He believed the prominence of the gel lulled people into a false sense of security about hand hygiene.

"What will work is good general hygiene – frequent hand washing with soap and water, clean clothes and avoiding visiting a hospital patient if you feel under the weather yourself," he said.

THUMBS-UP: New 512-bed Pembury Hospital

Final approval for £227m new hospital

THE Government has finally given the go-ahead to a £227 million Private Finance Initiative hospital planned for west Kent.

Maidstone and Tunbridge Wells NHS Trust is celebrating after the Secretary of State for Health Alan Johnson gave final approval for the scheme in the House of Commons on Tuesday last week.

Mr Johnson was responding to a question from Tunbridge Wells Tory MP Greg Clark, who has been campaigning and lobbying Government over the need for the new hospital since he was elected in 2005.

World-class

Glenn Douglas, the trust's chief executive, said: "Pembury Hospital will set a new standard in NHS care.

"Local people have waited a long time for this fantastic news and we look forward to the day when the doors of this world-class building open in three years' time."

The 512-bed PFI hospital will be the first NHS acute hospital in the country to have all inpatient single rooms with en-suite facilities.

Mr Douglas was happy to announce that work was expected to start within weeks.

The state-of-the-art hospital will be seven storeys high and provide a full range of services, including planned and emergency surgery, orthopaedics, a women and children's centre and day case theatres and outpatient services, the trust said.

Youngsters dare to be high-fliers in competition

DARING: The students are through to the county final of the Young Enterprise competition

STUDENTS from Pent Valley Technology College have had success in an awards scheme to find the next generation of high-flying businessmen and women.

A company made up of six pupils won the area final of the Young Enterprise competition at Bethany School in Goudhurst, earlier this month, beating six other teams from schools across the region.

The success of the group, called Dare 2 Be, means they will be entered into the county final at the University of Kent in May.

The name of the company had been chosen by the pupils to show how they had dared to achieve and succeed, said Katy Tibbles, the vocational learning co-ordinator at Pent Valley.

"The idea was to have something that would appeal to young people, symbolising how they had dared to come out of themselves and try something new," said Katy.

The pupils had been enthused by their recent win and had already got some valuable lessons under their belts, she added.

"It was great – the group has gained some valuable experience and built up an impressive set of skills."

The aspiring young business gurus were already preparing to take part in the county final at the University of Kent on Thursday, May 8, Katy said.

BY ROB LIVINGSTONE

"It is going to be really tough – the standard will be a lot higher, but the students are really excited."

"They have as good a chance at winning at a county-wide level as anyone."

The young dragons had organised a series of fund-raising events to demonstrate their business skills, including a school disco and a quiz night for teachers at their school.

They had also toured the area's primary school Christmas fairs with a craft stall, where children paid to make Christmas masks, glittery tree decorations and snow globes.

The Pent Valley pupils had bought the items for the stall online, leading to a healthy profit margin.

In total the aspiring entrepreneurs raised £250 to invest in their next venture, the creation of a website called Uni 4 U which will provide information for students at the University of Kent.

The pupils are planning to expand the site to cover every university in Kent if the prototype is a success.

Children read aloud in record attempt

STUDENTS at the Folkestone School For Girls have taken part in an attempt to create a world record by reading an extract from Peter Pan In Scarlet.

At exactly 9.15am on Friday, March 7, pupils from the school joined 223,000 people from around the country in trying to set the Guinness world record for the largest number of people reading aloud simultaneously.

The pupils also managed to raise £237 for the Great Ormond Street Hospital Charity in London, which was organising the record attempt to promote the release of Peter Pan In Scarlet in paperback.

The hospital, which was left the property rights to Peter Pan by the author JM Barrie on his death in 1929, commissioned author Geraldine McCaughrean to write Peter Pan In Scarlet as part of celebrations to mark the 100th anniversary of the release of Peter And Wendy in 1906.

The pupils taking part in the attempt will have to wait slightly less time to find out if they have made history in establishing the world record.

Officials from the Guinness Book Of World Records are expected to take only three months to check if the bid has been successful.

your shepway blogger

Each week we get a mystery writer to air their views on living in the district of Shepway...

The low-quality booze that makes our youngsters sick

THE latest example of the nanny state is more warnings against drinking – the number of alcohol-related admissions to accident and emergency departments has gone up 26 per cent since pubs were allowed to open when they like.

According to figures recently made public, more than 162,000 people showed up with some sort of injury after being the worse for drink.

These sorts of statistics ring alarm bells for sure – but let's take a look at what is almost certainly behind the figures.

I cannot be sure – but wouldn't it be pretty likely that a lot of these people are either underage drinkers or teenagers who fall over at the first sip of some ghastly alcopop brew.

The so-called binge-drinking debate has just got completely out of hand.

Even a few years ago, the issue was never brought up and it was considered right and proper to sink more than a few pints when football was on down the pub. And an evening out with some beers and a meal with wine was the norm. Then there are the constant health scares. What was it last week? Oh yes, I remember. Wine damages the brain by shrinking it – and so does beer and spirits.

This is according to some researchers in Germany who must have based their findings on the fact you must be stupid if you choose to drink some of their country's awful sweet wines.

But the debate cannot be so easily dismissed due to its high profile in the media.

So let's look at the root of the problem – oh yes it's young people, sorry 'yoo!', again.

They are the ones who are so frequently pictured passed out in the street or in court for alcohol-related criminal activities.

It's not the people who have always enjoyed a drink – it's newcomers to the benefits or otherwise of alcohol who do not know how to take it.

We constantly hear about the so-called café society of France, Italy etc where young people drink responsibly. Maybe they are taught to do it as they will have a glass of wine or a bottle of beer with food to start with.

Then they may move on to quality products which have taste, texture and an air of sophistication in their presentation.

Not so our young people here. They usually start on some rubbish product marketed in an annoying – not to say aggressive – manner.

Who can blame them if they don't want to savour the taste of some sickly concoction advertised as a fruit-based drink but consisting largely of sugar, E numbers and chemicals?

Likewise beer. Not many young drinkers enjoy the pleasures of real ale – instead they go for the mass-produced fizzy rubbish which flows out of pub pumps and is a poor reproduction of proper bottled lager.

So maybe the fault is not with our young drinkers totally. It's with the companies who put the products on the shelves.

Give people some quality and they might savour it. Not just drink it so quickly they throw it all up an hour later.

THE 2008 Hard Rock Calling concerts in Hyde Park, London June 28 and 29 which are presented by Hard Rock International have announced this year's headline artists.

Returning to Hyde Park over a decade after his last headlining performance, the legendary Eric Clapton will headline (Saturday, June 28), and will be joined by special guests Sheryl Crow and John Mayer, with more acts to be announced shortly.

The Police, following their hugely successful world tour, are to headline on Sunday, June 29 with special guests KT Tunstall and Starsailor, again with more acts to be added to the bill.

Eric Clapton's career has endured for more than 40 years, resulting in 18 Grammy Awards and he has earned the distinct honour of being the only triple inductee into the Rock & Roll Hall of Fame. Considered one of the world's finest guitarists, Clapton was a member of such seminal rock bands as Cream and Blind Faith as well as being highly recognised for his solo work. His recently released autobiography quickly became one of the best-selling rock memoirs of all time.

Over the course of her career, Sheryl Crow has collaborated with everyone from The Rolling Stones to Kid Rock to Willie Nelson. She has won countless awards (including nine Grammy Awards) and she has sold over 10 million albums worldwide. Sheryl continues writing new music and her latest album Detours (which is also her sixth studio record) came out on February 18. Detours is lyrically the most politically and personally outspoken record of her career, addressing the current state of the world from different perspectives as well as some of the personal challenges she's faced over the last few years.

During their time together The Police (Sting, Stewart Copeland and Andy Summers) had five number one albums, a succession of top 10 singles, received six Grammy Awards and two Brits. The band reformed last year, playing their first live performances in the UK since 1983, to widespread critical acclaim. These sold out UK dates were part of The Police world tour.

Your Local has teamed up with Live Nation to offer NINE of our lucky readers the chance to win a pair of VIP tickets for this fantastic t w o - d a y event.

"We are thrilled to be part of this historic music event that launches our global Ambassadors of Rock Tour," said Hamish Dodds, president and CEO, Hard Rock International.

Michael Philippides VP Marketing Partnerships, Live Nation comments; "We're delighted to build upon and extend our association with Hard Rock. Hard Rock have an established heritage in music and our partnership for this event perfectly reflects this with the added values and associations they bring to the party."

TALK TIME

NICOLA ROBINSON

Niki Robinson owns the newly-opened Nutmeg Café in Hythe High Street with her husband, Grant

How has your opening day been?

We were a bit apprehensive, but we have been really busy, considering we just opened the doors and let people in. We have had a constant flow of customers. We have had a lot of people coming in for coffee and pastries, too.

Tell us about yourself

I am the mother of three boys. This is my opportunity to do something for myself. I had been working at Grant's business for the last eight years, but I have always wanted to run my own food outlet since I was at school – certainly while I was at catering college. The children are not that old, but I felt this was my time to do this. I trained as a chef quite a few years ago now, and my passion has always been food.

Why did you choose Hythe to base your business?

On trips to the town with the family I have always noticed that there were very few places that were suitable for children – that would cater for the sort of thing my children liked. I felt there was an opening in the market for doing the kind of food we like to have.

What meals do you serve?

We serve good, wholesome food. Most of it is handmade using local produce where possible and we have also sourced in Fairtrade coffee and tea. We do some lovely biscuits, tarts and homemade soups, and we also do breakfasts in the morning. I feel it is important to know where your food is coming from, and to have it made well. Too often in this country we accept second best when it comes to food. We sell gifts as well, produced by local artists.

What would you recommend to a new customer?

I would recommend one of our homemade tarts, either a Mediterranean tart or one with goat's cheese and red onions, served with a little side salad for lunch.

YOUR LETTERS

Flats plan will lead to misery

The plans for 12 new flats in the hills behind Hythe should be immediately revised.

The access to this area is very difficult, the roads are narrow and the parking is non-existent.

Any large-scale development work would ensure misery for all local residents as their access will be awful when work is going on.

Hardy is a great choice for Winnie

The choice of Robert Hardy to play Winston Churchill in the RAF memorial charity concert is an inspired one.

I saw him play the same role in a TV show and he was brilliant.

He is one of our best-loved actors and I can imagine no one better than him to fill the stage of the London Palladium.

Beat the banana for fruity fun

I am writing to let your readers know that this year's Fruity Friday will be held on May 16 and to urge them to get involved.

The aim of Fruity Friday is to raise awareness about the link between lifestyle and cancer risk and to raise funds for our vital research and education programmes.

COMMENT ONLINE TOO

Not only can you use email and letters to respond to our stories, don't forget you can comment via our website too.

Beneath most stories on the www.yourshepway.co.uk website there is the facility to leave your comments on whatever YOU thought of the online article.

To leave your remarks, simply click on the 'Add your comments' link and tell us what you think. And remember, www.shepway.co.uk is updated daily, bringing you the latest, breaking news from Folkestone, Hythe, Romney Marsh and villages across the region.

We will include the best on these pages too – ensuring your comments reach the widest possible audience.

In addition, if you find your newsagent, supermarket or petrol station runs out of Yourshepway before you've grabbed your copy, you never need to miss out.

On www.yourshepway.co.uk you can access, for free, the full newspaper in our highly-acclaimed e-editions.

But as well as being a really worthwhile cause, Fruity Friday is also lots of fun. Whether you want to organise your own Beat the Banana! fun run or hold a 'guess how many berries' competition, there are lots of ways you can take part.

For children in particular, Fruity Friday is a great way of learning about healthy eating and physical activity.

Operation Stack is just no joke

I know most things can be laughed at, but a site on the internet in favour of Operation Stack is just a joke too far.

This is the single most annoying thing which myself and many others – as regular commuters using a car – face. So I for one do not see anything to laugh at.

Phil Michaels

Lorry park is worth the pain

Last week's blog is surely not to be agreed with by the majority of people, for whom a lorry park to relieve the pressure on the M20 caused by the dreaded Operation Stack is a must.

All right, it may be annoying for some people who live nearby, but it has to be positioned somewhere.

And if the price of some minor inconvenience is free roads, I am all in favour.

Let's win gold for smartening up

I have to write and agree with your correspondent who said it would be great to see the Olympic torch on its way through Dover.

developing confidence and individual talents

Frustrated to know that your child could succeed but is making slow progress?

Is it because of going unnoticed in a large school or a large class size?

Is your child lacking the confidence to flourish?

At Dover College, we are as keen as any other school to cater for the most able pupils and do it well. However, our recent inspection highlighted our great ability as a school to enable our more average pupils to achieve far better than their potential suggested on entry. By offering boys and girls timely affirmation and appropriate challenges in a caring environment, many of them surprise their parents and, more importantly, themselves with their achievements.

Pupils can join Dover College at any time of the year if there is a place available.

Bad call by cricket club management

Can I just say what a short-sighted decision Kent County Cricket Club have made yet again?

They have decided to employ Justin Kemp, who is part of the rebel Indian Cricket League, which is not sanctioned by the International Cricket Council.

Now Kent must have known this may create problems when they made their signing – yet still ploughed ahead with it.

Kemp is admittedly a fine player, and I saw him in an amazingly destructive mood at Tunbridge Wells a few seasons ago.

But with all the problems they have had with players going away before the season ends because of international calls, why sign one who can't even start it?

Mike Jones
Dover

Give us back what is our property

I have heard that Kent County Council has reneged on its previous agreement to safeguard Folkestone Museum and make no changes until an agreement is made over its future, whether at the library and/or another building.

Apparently the cabinet member has arbitrarily decided to give the go-ahead to a downsized and largely threadbare 'resource centre'.

This after agreeing in December last year to work with local people to find an alternative solution – also admitting having not consulted properly in the first place.

Further, KCC has not yet produced the Instrument of Transfer (IoT) from 1974 that supposedly changed ownership of all the collections from the old town council to the county body.

I suspect this has been lost and KCC dare not admit it, because if so its legal position would be pretty untenable.

I understand, though, that the cabinet member has supposedly agreed that the remaining collections will be maintained, rather than dispersed as planned, until another building can be found.

However, given the above swift stab-in-the-back this 'agreement' is surely just as worthless.

KCC would, in my view, be likely to drag its feet over helping to find another venue, eventually saying we cannot wait any longer and disperse the collections as originally intended.

Time, then, for the people of Folkestone to demand KCC rescind the arbitrary decision now, produce the original of the IoT, and work with no hidden agenda(s) to transfer ownership of what is morally the property of local people back to the new town council.

Further, working similarly with no delays, to help provide a venue worthy of our heritage.

Ray Duff
Folkestone

It doesn't deserve to be called a town

Sandgate should definitely be classified as a village rather than a town.

Whatever its somewhat pretentious residents think, it is nothing more than an appendage of Folkestone.

It may have a few antique shops, wine bars and bistros – but it has just as many junk shops and run-down drinking establishments.

To suggest it is a town – in the way places like Hythe or even Lydd are – is ridiculous.

To my mind and most of the people I know, it is a village and always will be.

Ryan Browne
Folkestone

We're Kensington-by-the-Sea

What a good idea of Sandgate to try to distance itself from dreary old Folkestone in a bid to give itself town status.

It is a far cry from what – despite many claims to the contrary – is a port town which has fallen on very hard times.

The Leas are still attractive, though – so maybe the whole of that side of the town could split away and call itself Sandgate Leas or some such name.

It could be an address to rival W11 – Kensington-by-the-Sea.

By Dickens! What an interesting life

Robert Powell shares an insight into famous author at Trinity Theatre

ROBERT POWELL: A VICTORIAN CELEBRATION

Saturday, March 29

Trinity Theatre, Tunbridge Wells

ONE of Britain's most respected actors will be celebrating another national treasure at Trinity Theatre this weekend.

Robert Powell: A Victorian Celebration sees the acclaimed performer exploring the life and work of Charles Dickens, the creator of some of literature's most enduring characters. Through Dickens' letters and writings, along with those of his friends and contemporaries, Powell shines a light on the writer's fascinating life.

Recreating some of the most memorable scenes ever written, from the romantic to the macabre, the play is a funny and moving experience.

Dickens was born in Portsmouth in 1812, where his father worked as a clerk at the Royal Dockyard. The family moved to London and then Kent with his childhood in Chatham and Rochester inspiring much of his later work.

Award

The lively and talented mimic was determined to build on his modest education, which ended at the age of 15, to eventually become a newspaper reporter. Dickens became a household name when his stories were published in instalments in newspapers and by the time he died in 1870, he had completed 14 novels.

Salford-born Robert Powell, 63, took up acting as an undergraduate at Manchester University. One of his earliest parts was as a driver in the original version of The Italian Job, but it was his role as scientist Toby Wren in the 1970 BBC series Doomwatch that was to make him a pin-up.

Powell followed this success with regular television roles and occasional film appearances, such as Mahler in 1974 and Ken Russell's Tommy the following year.

Perhaps the most iconic moment came with his BAFTA-nominated portrayal of Christ in the series Jesus of Nazareth. The cast also featured Sir Laurence Olivier, Christopher Plummer, Rod Steiger and James Mason, and Powell picked up the TV Times Best Actor award for his performance.

His leading role as Richard Hannay in the 1978 version of The Thirty-Nine Steps led to him reprising the part almost 10 years later in the TV series Hannay. Over the years he has won Best Actor awards at the Paris and Venice Film Festivals and continued to enjoy a successful career in film, television and on the stage.

His distinctive voice has always been in demand for advertising campaigns, audio books and musical works. Earlier this year he acted as the Narrator in Prokofiev's Peter and the Wolf.

At the request of old friend Jasper Carrott, Powell made a rare foray into comedy in the 80s with a series of sketches about two bumbling policemen. This resulted in the pair filming five series of spin-off sitcom The Detectives. In 2005 he became a regular in the hit BBC show Holly City.

Robert Powell: A Victorian Celebration starts at 8pm and tickets cost £18/£16. Call the box office on 01892 678678 or book online at www.trinity-theatre.net.

GREAT EXPECTATIONS:

THINK FLOYD

Friday, April 4
Leas Cliff Hall, Folkestone

EXPERIENCE the atmospheric sound of Pink Floyd with one of the UK's most successful tribute bands.

Think Floyd claims to recreate the musical excellence and visual magnitude of the legendary band, bringing the live Floyd experience to fans all over the country.

The line-up comprises Rick Benbow on keyboards, Steve Farmer on drums, Lewis Hall on bass and guitars and Richard Morse on guitars. They cover the entire Pink Floyd discography, from Syd Barrett right through to The Division Bell.

Think Floyd's versions of Atom Heart Mother and Echoes are described as particularly superb. No live performance would be complete without the iconic Dark Side of the Moon and The Wall, something no Pink Floyd fan should miss.

This summer the band will return to the Greek island of Rhodes for the third Lindos Floydfest, playing to Floyd fans from all over the world on the banks of the Aegean Sea.

The concert starts at 7.30pm and tickets cost £17.50. Call the box office on 0844 847 1776 or book online at www.leascliffhall.co.uk.

IAN PARKER

Saturday, March 29
Astor Theatre Arts Centre, Deal

WITH his bitter sweet vocal style and harrowing guitar sound, Ian Parker knows how to connect with his audience.

Fast becoming Britain's best-loved blues/roots performer, Parker draws on an eclectic range of influences to produce his unique sound. Described as a relevant contemporary blues man, Parker made a big impression on audiences in Deal when he opened for Walter Trout two years ago.

Born in Birmingham in 1976, Parker was inspired to become a musician when he discovered The Beatles' Rubber Soul album in his parents' record collection. He bought his first guitar at the age of nine and has never looked back.

From forming a band with two school friends to recording an album with producer Matt Butler, who has worked with greats such as Sir Paul McCartney, Parker has become a literate and honest songwriter.

The concert, which has been rescheduled from February, starts at 8pm and tickets cost £10 in advance or £15 on the door. Call the

Mysterious songwriter shares acoustic sounds

■ BY GARETH ARNOLD

DARK and eclectic singer songwriter Lupen Crook is featured on this week's Ether playing two acoustic tracks.

The Ether is the exclusive online showcase for the top local talent on our free, broadband TV site, www.yourkenttv.co.uk.

The idiosyncratic songwriter, who cultivates an air of mystery around his life and work, signed to Chatham-based record label Tap'n' Tin Records in 2005, the label which grew out of the popular Medway night-spot.

It released his latest album, Iscariot The Ladder, which prompted a great deal of interest in the music press. And it marks a significant departure from previous solo work.

Appearing as Lupen Crook And The Murderbirds, Crook's band add distorted guitar and rock drums to the mix on an album which, despite its obvious progression, has still garnered a great deal of praise.

And with a forthcoming mini-tour of New York booked for April, Crook is set to test how America will take his twisted, idiosyncratic approach to music.

The tunes combine folk and ska, and skiffle, as well as raucous gipsy folk and whiskey-soaked rockabilly, and often display huge dynamics reminiscent of The Pixies.

A Medway boy himself, Lupen Crook has long been a feature on the Kent music scene, playing in several local bands which gained moderate success.

Exploring grunge and rock psychedelia in Pet Burger and Bonsai Reservoir respectively, Lupen Crook And The Murderbirds are a very different proposition to Crook's previous work. Often described as haunting, the songs can also be almost disturbingly intense. Crook's lyrics and themes are more often than not a morbid examination of life's darker details.

IDIOSYNCRATIC SONGWRITER: Lupen Crook is about to embark on a New York tour plus a date in Canterbury

This fascination with the macabre has prompted tongue-in-cheek comparisons with Edgar Allen Poe, including the suggestion that hearing the band was like listening to Edgar Allen Poe fronting The Cramps.

Crook has admitted that this influence comes from growing up in the mixed and sometimes violent crucible of the Medway towns, with its chequered history and varied literary connections.

Before they head to New York, Lupen Crook And The Murderbirds have a few dates in London, as well as a slot at the Lounge On The Farm Festival near Canterbury.

For more information about the band, visit www.myspace.com/lupencrook and watch the interview with Crook at www.yourkenttv.co.uk.

Eaterie is an historic place to be

■ Walnut Tree

THE historic Walnut Tree pub in the village of Aldington was built during the reign of Richard II.

It started as no more than a timber-framed wattle-and-daub hut with a thatched roof, but in the mid-15th century a small bedroom was added at a higher level – it was reached by ladder.

Ale was brewed on site in the 17th century and the inn grew in popularity.

But during the Napoleonic wars with France the village was the stronghold of the Aldington Gang – an infamous band of smugglers who roamed the marshes and shoreline.

High up on the southern side of the pub is a small window, through which the gang would shine a signal to their confederates on Aldington Knoll.

The ghost of George Ransley, a bygone smuggler, is reputed to haunt the inn and many strange happenings have been reported.

The Walnut Tree has an excellent restaurant which serves fine food – sizzling grillstones, the oldest form of cooking meat on stones on the table.

The inn prides itself on home-cooked fare and Sunday roasts. It also has outside bars and a marquee can be arranged for large functions such as weddings.

The pub is opposite the village cricket green and there is ample car-parking space and an excellent beer garden.

■ Newchurch House

THE Newchurch House restaurant has gained an enviable reputation by word of mouth among people looking for a relaxing meal in a family-run dining venue with excellent atmosphere and friendly service.

The business has been established for 45 years but is still changing and moving with the times.

The most popular dishes on the menu vary over time, but currently fillet steak or lamb medallions with a mint and apple jus are popular.

Michelle Gregory is the owner of the business, which prides itself on its menu consisting of traditional home-cooked food and is located in The Street, Newchurch, on Romney Marsh.

She said: "Mark the chef and his mother Ann run the kitchen and produce superb food."

"We have a relaxing ambience, well-trained, polite and courteous staff and an excellently priced menu."

"A lot of our customers are through word of mouth, which re-confirms our belief that our restaurant is excellent."

"The Newchurch House is relaxed, friendly and value for money."

The restaurant is open Wednesday to Saturday lunchtime from noon to 2.30pm and in the evenings on those days from 7pm-10pm.

Sunday opening times are from noon to 4pm.

Super-slick Shanghai

BY PAUL MCGURK

THE skyline is pure science fiction – glinting spires, brash neon, vast skyscrapers, monuments which look as if they are about to take off and advertising dominating whole sides of buildings, in blinding light.

It's hard not to think of Ridley Scott's cityscapes in Blade Runner. Sipping a cocktail on the top floor of a hotel and looking down upon the bright lights, you might think you're watching a movie. But it's real.

This is Shanghai; vibrant powerhouse of new China, dazzling, ultra-modern and super-slick. It's difficult to believe that much of what you see in the Pudong area was built within the last 20 years.

The jewel in the crown of the high-rise city is the Oriental Pearl Tower. Its 'moon-base' spheres and javelin spire were created back in 1994, and it's the most arresting sight – but by no means the only sight – in the city.

Everywhere are symbols of design ingenuity and daring, making Shanghai one of the most architecturally innovative cities in the world.

A flavour of this taste for the new and bold can be gained from a ride on the MagLev (or magnetically levitating) train, the first such commercial line in the world. Running from Pudong International Airport to the centre of the city, it reaches a mind-boggling 431kmph (268mph), turning the scenery into a blur.

The Pudong area is filled with hotels from which to explore the city and one of the best is the Shangri-La. Boasting widescreen views of the Huangpu River from the elegant rooms, the hotel has a number of high-end leisure facilities under its own roof, such as the Yi Cafe, with its 10 chef stations.

A cruise down the Huangpu gives you the best of both worlds in Shanghai, taking in the lights and modernity of Pudong on the east side and the grandeur of The Bund district in the west. At night the city comes alive, its glaring lights best savoured before 10pm on the top deck of the boat.

The Bund features traditional architectural glories from a pre-revolution, colonial era. Although neglected in some cases, buildings are being restored to their former splendour and the interiors can be stunning, such as HSBC Bank's opulent marble-floored main chamber.

In and around The Bund are other insights into street-level Shanghai, from quaint bric-a-brac shops and open-air exercise apparatus in the streets (apparently, to keep the population healthy and out of hospitals), to the rows of laundry festooning beautiful facades.

With Expo 2010 bound for Shanghai following the Beijing Olympics this year, the city's evolution is set to continue. There is little doubt it is one of the fastest-growing, most exciting cities on Earth.

There is much to explore beyond the city too, if your visit is long enough. Barely 40 minutes away by high-speed train, the city of Suzhou on the lower reaches of the Yangtze River has two must-sees; the Suzhou Museum and The Humble Administrator's Garden.

The museum (www.szmuseum.com), designed by the renowned Ioh Ming Pei, has such large spaces and restful lines that its splendour comes close to eclipsing the art treasures within.

In The Humble Administrator's Garden, a project of local official Wang Xianchen in 1513, almost every view looks as if it could be framed on a wall. At dusk, walkways, ponds and greenery become almost ethereal – a garden of dreams.

YOUR TV REVIEW

■ BY TOM BETTS

CURB YOUR ENTHUSIASM More 4, 00.15am, Monday THE BIG BANG THEORY Channel Four, 10.30pm, Thursday

CRIMINALLY under-watched, insanely addictive and probably the funniest show on television right now is Larry David's Curb Your Enthusiasm.

Operating on the premise that seems to apply to my own life (that if something can go wrong then it probably will) our offensive, but lovable protagonist, lurches from one minor disaster to another each week, upsetting or confusing anyone he meets in the process.

No one in Los Angeles is safe. Family friends, doctors, lawyers, maître des and more often than not his own wife, Cheryl, all suffer at the hands of the hapless David, whose inability to keep his mouth shut at the crucial moment lands him in strife time and time again.

This is not easy watching. While the semi-autobiographical results are always hilarious they can also be embarrassing as hell.

If David Brent's famous dance in The Office made you watch from behind fingers over your eyes, then David's scrapes will make you want to re-occupy the womb.

But don't let that put you off. Hidden away on More 4, the show is 25 minutes of near perfection that is well worth seeking out. It's anyone's guess why this not been given a terrestrial run.

Showing that the Americans can also do comedy for the younger audience is another offering from Stateside, The Big Bang Theory.

Channel Four has long struggled to fill the family comedy shaped hole

ENTHUSIAST: Larry David, comedy gold left by Friends, but with TBBT they may finally have nailed it.

This is a smart, snappily written little number ideal for whiling half an hour of your Thursday night.

The main thrust: A bunch of geeks trying to woo a teenage temptress who is way out of their league hardly pulls up any trees, but some of the characters here show real promise.

In particular, the supporting cast come into their own.

Sporting the worst haircut since Javier Bardem in No Country For Old Men is Simon Helberg as Hayley Woolowitz, the lovable, nine-language speaking supernerd who raises genuine belly laughs.

It's not quite there yet, but with a little time to flourish, this could cause a much bigger bang than expected.

If this one truly takes off expect Channel Four, in their infinite wisdom, to wield the stick of schedule change and hide this away on Freeview at a time we should all really be in bed.

See you at midnight.

YOUR WEEK'S HOROSCOPE

BY RUSSELL GRANT

AQUARIUS (Jan 21-Feb 19)

MORE money is heading your way, which is a welcome relief. Taking a stance against an immoral policy or person will put you in the path of romance. Nothing is more inspiring and confidence building than someone who is willing to stand up for their beliefs.

• To find out more about what the stars have in store call Russell on Aquarius 09067-531762

TAURUS (Apr 21-May 21)

NORMALLY, you're ultra practical, but this week you've got your sights set starward. Fortunately, it looks like you have a lot of supportive people to help you along the way. A generous authority figure could help you get a job interview or bring your work before the public.

• To find out more about what the stars have in store call Russell on Taurus 09067-531753

LEO (Jul 24-Aug 23)

YOU'RE about to undergo a powerful transformation. An old relationship could fall away, making room for new friends and associates. Life is like that, sometimes. The good thing about having more space in your life is that it will enable you to get closer to remaining friends.

• To find out more about what the stars have in store call Russell on Leo 09067-531756

SCORPIO (Oct 24-Nov 22)

IF you're in the mood to gamble, Lady Luck is on your side. The best part of it is you won't have to risk much in order to yield handsome profits. Of course, this could all change if you insist on raising the stakes. News regarding a pregnancy or marriage comes as music to your ears.

• To find out more about what the stars have in store call Russell on Scorpio 09067-531759

PISCES (Feb 20-Mar 20)

YOUR star power is undeniable. Do your best to get all the perks you can, as you'll be cycling into another phase next week. If you opt for a makeover and a change of style you should remember your natural beauty is most evident when you are spending time on the things you love.

• To find out more about what the stars have in store call Russell on Pisces 09067-531763

GEMINI (May 22-Jun 22)

THE spotlight will be firmly trained on you this week. If you've ever thought about pursuing a career in the arts, this is the time to do it. Any work related to film, music, photography or the media in general will be good for you. Best of all, your fame could attract amorous attention.

• To find out more about what the stars have in store call Russell on Gemini 09067-531754

VIRGO (Aug 24-Sep 23)

PUTTING your interests aside for the sake of someone else is probably the best move this week. Right now, a business or romantic partner needs you to relieve them of chores, listen to their fears and provide guidance. You may even be called upon to force this person away from work.

• To find out more about what the stars have in store call Russell on Virgo 09067-531757

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 23-Dec 21)

IN the market for a new home? Step up your search this week. Approach a family member for a loan if you need one. Adding a lover, baby, or roommate to your household is a possibility. You'll feel an affinity for this new person. Going out won't be as important as it once was.

• To find out more about what the stars have in store call Russell on Sagittarius 09067-531760

ARIES (Mar 21-Apr 20)

LATELY, you've been so busy you haven't had time to think. Withdrawing from the crowd helps you to know your own heart better. The next time you have the urge to do something, don't ask friends for confirmation. A secret love affair affords a great deal of pleasure.

• To find out more about what the stars have in store call Russell on Aries 09067-531752

CANCER (Jun 23-Jul 23)

OPPORTUNITIES for personal expansion are all around you now. The stars are beaming rays of support your way so if you're engaged in an official tussle, push to wrap it up before the week is over. If you have been considering adding to your skills then now is the time to do it.

• To find out more about what the stars have in store call Russell on Cancer 09067-531755

LIBRA (Sep 24-Oct 23)

YOU'RE being offered a wonderful opportunity to finish outstanding tasks. You'll feel so much better once you get these jobs out of the way. This is also a good time to attend to household chores. If you need help call on a sympathetic family member. They'll be happy to pitch in.

• To find out more about what the stars have in store call Russell on Libra 09067-531758

CAPRICORN (Dec 22-Jan 20)

THIS could turn out to be one of the busiest weeks of the entire year. The phone won't stop ringing and your in-box will fill up pretty fast. It will take every ounce of strength to keep up with all of your work. Although you're sure to be tired, it is nice to know you are needed.

ON GENERAL RELEASE

THE SPIDERWICK CHRONICLES (PG)

From the best-selling series of books comes The Spiderwick Chronicles. Peculiar things start to happen the moment the Grace family leave New York and move into the secluded old house owned by their great, great uncle Arthur Spiderwick. After a bit of exploring the fantastic truth of the Spiderwick estate is revealed.

LARS AND THE REAL GIRL (12A)

Lars is a shy young man in a small town who finally brings home the girl of his dreams to his brother and sister-in-law. The only problem is that she's not real – she's a blow-up doll. But sex is not what Lars has in mind, but a deep, meaningful relationship. His brother thinks he's nuts, but soon the entire town goes along with his delusions.

MEET THE SPARTANS (12A)

After successfully skewering Hollywood's scariest movie (as two of the writers on Scary Movie), romantic comedy franchises (Date Movie) and Hollywood blockbusters (Epic Movie), writers/directors/producers Jason Friedberg and Aaron Seltzer now set their sights on 300. The heroic Leonidas, leads a ragtag group of 13 Spartans to defend their homeland against the invading Persians.

Why DiCaprio has gone green

■ BY ELLIE GENOWER

YOU'RE a Hollywood heart-throb with the world at your feet, a model on your arm and Oscar nominations in your bag. So what on Earth do you have to be worried about? Well, the Earth actually.

Titanic star Leonardo DiCaprio is turning his attention to ice that melts and insists this is not about jumping on any trendy bandwagon.

"This documentary is something that I have been trying to do for many years," he says. "Ever since I started environmental work, I've wanted to do a documentary that really encompasses every major environmental issue in the world and speaks to all the greatest experts."

And The 11th Hour certainly goes some way to achieving that, talking to scientist Stephen Hawking and former Soviet president Mikhail Gorbachev, as it explores man's impact on the planet, and more importantly, what we can do to change it.

Going green – changing, not only the way we live, but what we buy and how we entertain ourselves – has been of increasing concern to Leo, one of the documentary's producers, as well as its narrator.

"I was tired of watching news programmes and listening to environmentalists or scientists that have devoted their lives to an issue like global warming, having to sit there and get wrangled into some sort of argument about whether this is really happening or not," says the 33-year-old star.

"We wanted to make a homemade movie where we got the greatest minds possible all speaking uninterrupted without any corporate backing or studio involvement from the onset."

Documentary film in Hollywood is on the rise, with the success of Michael Moore films like Fahrenheit 9/11 and Sicko, and of course that of former president hopeful Al Gore, whose film

ECO-FRIENDLY: Documentary producer Leo DiCaprio

An Inconvenient Truth hit the headlines two years ago – and had a profound impact on the already environmentally conscious Leo.

"There is tremendous capability in the world of documentary. If it weren't for An Inconvenient Truth and him having put the science of global warming and its impact on a global scale, a movie like this wouldn't be possible," he admits.

"This film has a broader spectrum in the sense that we talk about personal responsibility, and about the role of governments and corporations along with solutions as well. It really highlights the fact that we have solutions out there today that can reduce the human footprint by 90 per cent."

Leo confesses he became concerned about the world around him at a young age.

"I had a deep respect for nature, and I was a little biologist when I was younger," he says, smiling.

Nowadays he drives a hybrid car, has solar panels on his house, uses filtered water and buys organic produce. "I built my house green but that isn't necessarily feasible for everyone out there," he concedes.

His passion for the environment is obviously a big part of his life, but Leo insists he won't be joining Arnold Schwarzenegger in turning to politics: "I have no political aspirations whatsoever." However, he realises it's his star appeal which will entice people into cinemas to see a low budget movie about global warming.

PROPERTY NEWS

White stuff attracts buyers overseas

INVESTORS in overseas property are now turning to the snow rather than the sea when it comes to desirable locations.

The Alps are becoming increasingly popular at the expense of Mediterranean hotspots which traditionally dominated the market for UK buyers abroad.

France, Italy and Austria all saw strong increases in interest, while Canada was also proving popular among those looking for property abroad. The latest HiFX Global Property Hotspots report, which covers the period from January to March this year, also shows interest in summer destinations such as Spain and Cyprus is waning.

"The French Alps are still top for Brits seeking a place in the snow, with France accounting for 26 per cent of all inquiries due to its close proximity and cheap airlines," explained Mark Bodega, director of HiFX.

He added that prices are higher in well established resorts such as Meribel, Courchevel and Chamonix – but the rental yields for landlords also remain consistently high in these areas.

Feeling safe at home can prove priceless

HOMEOWNERS have spent a staggering £27 billion on security systems in the last five years in an attempt to feel secure following a break-in.

The figure was revealed by a survey commissioned by Intamac Systems, which examined the costs of burglary to families.

While many said they would consider the chief burden to be the financial outlay after a violation of their home, the emotional cost can be just as severe according to the experts.

For a large proportion of people surveyed nothing could make them feel safe in their home. A third of those questioned stated they were forced to pack up their possessions and move home.

However, those that remained in a property spent £27bn on improvements to their security.

"While we have tried to put a figure on peace of mind, it seems that feeling safe in your own home is priceless," said company spokesman David Rimmer.

"We talk about our homes being our castles, but after a break-in the householder's relationship with their home changes, with many striving to regain the air of safety and normality."

PRICE OF FAILURE: DIY disasters at home can be expensive to put right, and you may need some additional household cover if you want to claim from an insurance policy

The hidden costs of men who tackle DIY

■ BY NICK AMES

NEW research has shown that contrary to popular belief men are not natural DIYers.

According to the study many dislike doing it, but feel pressured to try and redesign the bedroom, remodel the kitchen or rewire the hi-fi system.

More than a third said if they had the choice they would not carry out home improvements, but feel a sense of duty to do it after being put upon by their partners or family.

And the bad news for men – half of women believe DIY skills are desirable in a prospective partner.

More than 1,500 male homeowners were questioned in the survey for Halifax Home Insurance.

The study found that in a bid to impress their partners many men may be planning to attempt ambitious and potentially dangerous home improvement projects involving building, gas or electrical works.

It revealed that a quarter of men have attempted electrical wiring at home, while almost a quarter of men have attempted to fit an entire new kitchen.

The survey warned that people who undertake large home improvement jobs themselves, without the proper qualifications or experience, risk invalidating their home insurance policies if things go wrong.

Martyn Foulds, a senior claims manager for Halifax Homes Insurance, said: "TV home makeover shows make it all appear so simple and it's easy to forget that these are highly skilled professionals.

"In reality, trying to tackle certain areas you are not qualified for, such as electrics or plumbing, could invalidate your home insurance policy, leaving you liable for any subsequent damage.

"We'd recommend using a reputable tradesman rather than going it alone."

Accidental breakage to some parts of the home, for example sinks, baths, ceramic hobs and fixed glass in doors, is included in most buildings insurance policies.

But householders may need additional accidental damage insurance cover to protect against common DIY disasters that befall thousands of people, such as drilling through water pipes, spilling paint on carpets, or putting feet through ceilings.

MOTORS NEWS

Motorline's got a new Renault man on the job

MOTORLINE has appointed Paul Stapylton general manager for its Renault site at Vauxhall Industrial Estate, Canterbury.

Westgate man Paul, 28, who is new to Renault, but has more than ten years' experience in the motor trade, said: "There are several new (Renault) launches this year like the Koleos and the Laguna, all of which I'm sure will be well received by Renault customers."

"With a great range of new and used vehicles, a highly experienced team and great after-sales facilities at Motorline Renault, I am confident that we will reach our intended targets."

Renault Motorline is East Kent's largest new and used Renault dealer group.

Dealer says Evolution shows Lancer revolution

MITSUBISHI'S all-new Lancer is 'revolutionary', claims a Kent dealer.

Clay Roper, dealer principal of SMC Mitsubishi, Erith, says the saloon has sensational styling, keen pricing and the 'halo' effect of the sporty Evolution X variant: "The tenth generation of Mitsubishi Lancer has been priced into the heartland of the C segment even though it's bigger and better than its competitors. Sharper handling, better safety, crisp styling and cutting edge technology underline the new car's sporting credentials."

Annual kit show trades in classic dreams

FANCY a head-turner like this classic Austin-Healey for a fraction of the price?

That's the draw of the UK's kit car industry, which will showcase its dream products at the 18th European Kit & Car Builder Show, staged at the County Showground, Detling, near Maidstone, on the weekend 12-13 April.

Apart from some 40 manufacturers, 50 trade stands, 30 kit car clubs, and over 400 privately owned kit cars on display, there is family entertainment and catering and parking is free.

ALL-NEW JEEP: Jeep's Chrysler Group parent claims the newcomer is one of the best-built cars it has ever produced, though interior quality is well below par for the sector

Jeep's own 4x4 rival to the family hatch

Green rating	★★★★★

JEEP has an all-new entry model in the finest 4x4 tradition of the brand and yet cheap enough to tempt would-be family hatchback buyers.

OK, the £15,995 lead-in price is for the 2.4 petrol version, so stump up an extra grand for the entry level diesel, the 2.0CRD Sport tested here.

With a Volkswagen-sourced turbodiesel and slick six-speed manual gearbox, this model can be hustled brilliantly on-road and – as I proved at last year's launch event – tackle seriously tough terrain by using the fully-lockable 'Freedom Drive' 4x4 transmission.

It is not in the same league as Jeep's bigger kit, but not bad for a proper 4x4 selling for the price of a well-spec'd family hatch and capable of delivering a decent drive and a smooth ride.

It should also be long-lived; Jeep's Chrysler Group parent claims the newcomer is one of the best-built cars it has ever produced, though interior quality is well below par for the sector.

On the bright side though I can see that the materials used make it easier to remove the chocolate and sticky sweets plus juice and wee stains that have disfigured our ageing Toyota RAV-4 'kiddie wagon'.

The layout is fairly practical too, with lots of stowage and cup holders and even a flip-up MP3 player slot in the armrest, conveniently situated for plugging into the centre console's 12v socket.

The seats are mounted high despite the Patriot's comparatively modest height for this class and also comfortable, with enough lateral support for yomping across the rough stuff.

However, the car is more 4.5-seater than full five-seater even if the utilitarian 4x4 estate styling delivers good rear legroom and headroom.

Boot space is also restricted by the extra transmission and underfloor spare, but folding the 60/30 split rear seats opens up lots of load carrying flexibility.

Yes, the Patriot is a pugnacious character, but it won't break the bank and while full-size 4x4 sales falter under the onslaught of tax, spiraling fuel prices and the heated 'green debate' it makes a convincing alternative – it looks the part while averaging 40mpg.

USED CAR ROUND-UP: OUR PICK FROM A KEY SECTOR

JAGUAR X-TYPE

JAGUAR'S junior model is going through rehabilitation on the used market as people realise what a bargain it has become. Purists didn't like the fact that it is based on the previous front-wheel drive Mondeo platform, although Ford-owned Jaguar tried to deflect this by launching the 'X' with all-wheel drive. But critics had to acknowledge that the 'X' drives well in the Jag tradition while two smooth diesels and an elegant estate, have redeemed it with hard-nosed used car buyers.

HONDA ACCORD

IS it a prestige badge or not? Honda constantly juggles that question, as well as the buying public. There is no doubting Honda quality, but the front-wheel drive Accord executive saloon struggles to deserve a mention alongside the classic rear-driven layout of the BMW 3-Series. Nevertheless, the Honda is beautifully made, offers a sporting drive and is unlikely to let you down en route to a top-level meeting. The so-called 'whispering diesel' option is also one of the best too.

MERCEDES C-CLASS

YOU won't find many used C-Class bargains, but that grille and three-pointed star is worth paying extra for to stand out from the crowd. An all-new model last year has eased prices on the outgoing range though, which includes some of the best diesel engine options in the sector. The driving experience is less involving than the BMW 3-Series, but the Merc rides better and is the classier all-rounder – you should get more dosh back when you sell too.

TERMS AND CONDITIONS

KOS MEDIA (PUBLISHING) LTD TERMS AND CONDITIONS

1. Advertisements will be accepted only on the express condition that the advertiser warrants that the advertisement does not in any way contravene any existing legislation and in particular the Trade and Description Act 1968 and the Consumer Credit Act 1974.
2. It is the responsibility of all advertisers to ensure that all advertising meets all forms of government legislation and KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd (the "media owner") takes no responsibility for liability in errors and omissions to the content of our media.
3. All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.
4. All rates within the annual advertising agreement will be rate protected for 12 months from the first date of publication under the signed agreement.
5. Any unsuitable material posted on any website belonging to KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd by the advertiser or any associated third party will be removed or refused. All passwords and security supplied to the advertiser by KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd in relation to the use of the posting of material via the media owner's online administration tool will be the responsibility of the advertiser. The advertiser indemnifies KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd against any damages as a result of misuse of these privileges by either the advertiser or any third party given password privileges by the advertiser.
6. KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd reserves the right to change passwords intermittently to ensure the overall and ongoing security of its websites within the public domain.
7. Copyright and licenses for voice-over/music/photography or film for advertising promotions or otherwise within the various forms of media in print, online and moving film owned by KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd must have been sought, verified or paid for by the advertiser where applicable. Approval or permissions must have been given by any potential media owner's voice-over or music. The advertiser must be able to verify any statements or claims (promotional or otherwise) in relation to their products/services promoted within any of the media offerings belonging to KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd.
8. Where shrinkage of an advertisement occurs for whatever reason, the advertiser will be charged to the nearest full centimetre where it relates to the media owner's printed publications. This will NOT apply to full-page advertisements, which remain in writing.
9. KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd reserves the right to omit or refuse any advertisement/commercial/web content without notice or explanation. In these terms the word "advertisement" shall be construed to include any person or organisation placing an advertisement on behalf of another.
10. A guarantee of insertion cannot be given and the media owners shall not be liable for any loss or damage caused by any error or inaccuracy within your marketing content. In no case shall the total liability of the media owner for any error or omission exceed the price charged by the media owners for that advertisement.
11. No liability is accepted for any loss or damage alleged to have arisen through delay in forwarding replies to Box numbers, however caused, nor for the loss or damage to any artwork supplied.
12. Claims for any error or inaccuracy in your media messages with KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd must be made in writing to the accounts department within 10 days of publication.
13. KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd accepts no responsibility for any errors or omissions made on their websites by the advertiser.
14. KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd has the right to cancel the advertiser's annual membership without notice should the advertiser deliberately publish out of date material or content on any of the media owner's online digital platforms. KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd will seek to recover, in full, all outstanding invoices in relation to the signed annual membership as a result of the advertiser's negligence in this regard and reserves the right to claim damages for any potential vexatious action via the advertiser.
15. Advertisers are requested to check their advertisements after the first insertion. The media owner will not be responsible for any errors on subsequent insertions, which have not been advised to them in writing.
16. A minimum of one month's notice must be given in writing for any cancellation of the signed annual advertiser's agreement. Upon cancellation, all discounts from KOS Media's standard effective media advertising rate card (July 2007-June 2008) will be recalculated and adjusted accordingly in line with KOS Media's standard media rate card (effective July 2007-June 2008) and will reflect the revised length of commitment denoted by the advertiser's written cancellation. Any surcharges, refunds or costs in relation to the production of the advertiser's TV commercial for the commitment set out within the advertiser's agreement will be met in full by the advertiser as per KOS Media's standard media advertising rate card (July 2007-June 2008). Discounts will be reapplied and any refunds or surcharges be paid by either party within 30 days of the advertiser's written cancellation. Any other advertising placed must give a minimum of seven days' written notice and any discounts given for series bookings will be forfeited by the advertiser upon cancellation.
17. The advertiser must agree to the date and time of filming of the TV advertising commercial supplied by KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd within the advertiser's agreement. (Platinum, Gold, Silver standard of commercial). Should for any reason, the advertiser not be available at the agreed time without giving sufficient notice (at least 48 hours), KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd reserves the right to charge for any further TV production of the standard published hourly rate should the advertiser wish to use KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd's production services to complete its TV commercial or photographic imagery included in the advertiser's agreement. The advertiser will approve and accept that there are only two choices of voice-over and music offered by KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd. Should an advertiser wish to use other voice-overs or non-copyright free music it is the responsibility of the advertiser to pay the PRS rights should they be required to do so. Any changes to or failure to approve the TV production by the deadlines agreed between both parties will result in KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd being given permission by the advertiser to replace the TV commercial with pictures or stills from a choice of photography supplied by the media owner until the advertiser can supply a TV commercial produced at their own cost and risk outside of this agreement. The advertiser also accepts and agrees that this action will not reduce the value or cost of their membership. Any cost of changes required to the TV commercial throughout the advertiser's agreement will be borne by the advertiser outside of this agreement.
18. Each advertiser accepts that their ranking and position within KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd's search engine will be equal to those within their category (Platinum, Gold, Silver, Bronze, etc) other than they will be ranked based on the search engine criteria of optimisation within their level (Platinum, Gold, Silver or Bronze).
19. Any delivery claims made by the advertiser or discount vouchers published within the print or online media of KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd and any action as a result of the public or otherwise is the sole responsibility of the advertiser. Any claims resulting from this via KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd must be met by the advertiser.
20. a. All credit accounts due for payment shall be notified to the Advertiser by the 30th day following the date of the invoice. Time to be of the essence. All sums due to KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd or RBS Factoring shall be paid in full, and the Advertiser shall have no right of set off in any circumstances.
b. In the event that payment is not received by KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd or RBS Factoring by the due date, the media owner shall be entitled to suspend all further advertising until payment is received and/or repudiate the contract.
c. In the event that payment is not received by KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd by the due date, the media owner reserves the right to charge interest on all overdue balances calculated on a daily basis at the rate of two per cent above the minimum lending rate of National Westminster Bank Plc from time to time in force.
d. Notwithstanding anything in these terms and conditions or implied to the contrary, in the event of the Advertiser ceasing to use the services of KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd for whatever reason, the whole amount of monies due from the Advertiser to the date of cessation shall fall due for immediate payment.
e. The Advertiser will be liable for all costs incurred by KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd in the recovery of debts not paid by the due date.
f. Payment may be made by cheque, credit transfer, direct debit, cash and any major credit card.
21. Any discount which KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd may have agreed with the Advertiser shall be forfeited in the event of failure by the Advertiser to complete the contract or to meet the above credit terms.
22. Advertising Agency commission will be allowed to those advertisers recognised by the Newspaper Society, but shall not exceed ten per cent and will be subject to the terms of that recognition. This commission will not be allowed if the Advertising Agency fails to meet the terms.
23. All private advertisement and certain categories as laid down by KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd must be prepaid.
24. The Advertiser agrees to indemnify KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd in respect of all costs, damages or other charges falling upon the media owner or any of the companies within the KOS Media Group as the result of legal action or threatened legal action or threatened legal arising from the publication of any advertisement or advertising promotion.
25. An order for an advertisement shall amount to acceptance of these terms and conditions, and any condition placed on an order by an Advertiser shall be null and void in so far as it conflicts with them.
26. Copyright in advertisements produced wholly or partially by the media owners belong to KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd. Advertisers may not reproduce such advertisements without the media owner's consent.

All terms and conditions stated above are in place to protect the advertiser, the media owner and the communities they serve within the public domain as well as the beneficial rights of individuals and organisations. KOS Media will endeavour to always act reasonably in applying its terms and conditions.

Join our revolution in media

UK award-winning media company requires

MANAGEMENT ACCOUNTANT

KOS Media has won seven national awards in five years and is one of the fastest growing companies in Kent and in the UK regional media industry.

We require a forward-thinking, bright and enthusiastic fully qualified management accountant who will be reporting directly to the chief executive with dotted line responsibility to the other senior management and directors.

The successful applicant will have the ambition to build on their role while learning about the media, and ultimately should have the drive to one day to become part of the senior management team.

This varied role will include maintenance of all ledgers, PAYE, preparation of VAT returns, purchase ledger and managing a small team responsible for credit control, as well as providing reports to the managing director, and other commercial directors.

You will hopefully be an ideas-led and creative thinking individual as we are a vibrant, young and fast-moving company. You will also have a flexible approach, good communication skills, a high degree of self-motivation and the ability to work under pressure to meet deadlines.

If you would like to become part of our continuing success, and feel you have the necessary qualifications then please send your CV with covering letter to: Paul Stannard, Chief Executive, KOS Media Ltd, Apple Barn, Hythe Road, Smeth, Ashford, Kent TN25 6SR.

Juicy opportunities

Zest is an ad agency that is winning new business, industry awards, and admirers. Our people do things with passion, creativity, energy and all-round... zestiness. Problem is, with more and more great clients coming on board, we're going from a busy ad agency to a reeeeeaaaally busy ad agency and we're finding that there's just not enough zest to go round. We need your brand of zest.

Account Managers

We need your professional insight and experience, your ability to foster strong relationships, and create clear, defined strategies.

Account Executives

Your brand of zestiness must include boundless energy, initiative, and ideally some experience in the world of advertising. You'll also need a black belt in organisation.

Project Manager – Website

We need an experienced Project Manager to oversee a client's suite of websites. You will act as liaison between the client, client service, and the web design team – receiving instructions, allocating work, and checking that all required updates and changes happen within defined time frames. You need the ability to gain the confidence of all parties, to be ordered and stay on top of all tasks irrespective of complexity, and you need experience in project management.

Artworker

Enthusiastic and ambitious artworker required. Experience of Quark and Creative Suite essential. You'll need a great eye for detail and able to cope with tight deadlines.

Web Content Technician

We're looking for a web-savvy person to input and manage content on a CMS system for a major client's websites. Would suit a recent college-leaver with an interest in, and aptitude for website development. An eye for detail and a knowledge of HTML is needed.

PR Executive with creativity

We need you to answer two very important questions. 1. How do you write a press release that gets information across, entertains and compels? 2. How can PR benefit from the web? If you can answer those questions and are excited about the world of public relations, we want to hear from you.

All roles are based at our Lords Wood office and come with a competitive package and bonus scheme. Benefits include contributory pension and private health schemes, free parking and a 4:30pm finish every Friday – a great way to start your weekend. To apply, please email your cv and a note detailing your own particular brand of zest to alan.young@thinkzest.com

BUSINESS BRIEFS

Innovation centre is given Key to success

A DRIVE towards new technology in Kent has been boosted with the appointment of a marketing high-flier as co-ordinator for the Thames Innovation Centre.

Robert Key is to help develop technology companies as well as attract overseas companies that might be looking for a UK base for their European operations.

He said the centre, intended to be the heart of the future Thames Gateway technology sector, is much more than just a building.

Mr Key added: "Not only can we offer smart and well equipped office space, but the centre also offers a complete range of business support packages and access to finance that will enable new ventures to grow and flourish."

His previous jobs have included working with a private medical company and developing its clinic base nationwide, in addition to working within a marketing consultancy offering services to SMEs based in the South East.

Northern Rock still a charitable institution

GUARANTEED funding promises from the newly nationalised bank Northern Rock have enabled its charitable arm to state that it will almost double its budget.

The Northern Rock Foundation initially feared its projects would be ended by the well publicised collapse of the bank last year.

But Alastair Balls, the charity's chairman, has now been able to increase his grants budget for this year from £7 million to £11m, following pledges made during the nationalisation process which have recently been made public.

Until the end of last year, Northern Rock set aside five per cent of its profits each year to fund the foundation.

And the collapse of the bank prompted Mr Balls to cut the charity's grants budget for 2008 to just £7m.

However, provisions in the legislation paving the way for the nationalisation of Northern Rock commit it to funding the foundation to the tune of at least £15 million a year until 2010.

Why businesses 'must help' to cut waste mountain

■ BY NICK AMES

MAJOR companies should be asked to accept voluntarily their responsibility to cut waste, according to the Conservative Party.

Opposition MPs spoke out after high-profile campaigns in the media and among conservation groups to get rid of such things as plastic bags in supermarkets and cut packaging on foodstuffs and other perishables.

The party says existing EU rules are not wide-ranging enough and are "propping up our throwaway culture".

Former Tory MP for Tunbridge Wells – who was the boss of Asda – Archie Norman has been asked to look for ways of working with firms on a 'fundamental rethink' of tackling waste.

The Government has already given supermarkets a year to slash the use of plastic bags, threatening legislation if they do not.

The steering group on waste is part of a wider drive by the Conservatives to persuade businesses they have an important role to play in creating a better society – on issues from obesity to climate change.

Tory leader David Cameron said corporate social responsibility was "a really vital challenge for the future"

– but should not burden businesses and the economy with higher tax and regulation.

"We're not going to solve any of the big problems we face as a society, as a country or as a world, unless we have responsible business playing its part," he said.

"We're not going to make Britain a more family-friendly country, unless business plays its part in terms of helping families to have time together. We won't deal with childhood obesity, or teenage pregnancy, or any of the other childhood issues we're looking at, without business acting responsibly, without playing its part."

The Tories say the current approach to dealing with the 330 million tonnes of waste produced in the UK each year is "bureaucratic and sluggish".

Members say the EC Directive on packaging and waste has had limited success as it only covers a small amount of waste – such as electrical and electronic equipment, vehicles and batteries.

Meanwhile the effort to increase recycling is "driven by the threat of hefty fines" rather than a "fundamental rethink of how we look at waste".

TASKMASTER: Former Tory MP Archie Norman – and boss of supermarket chain Asda – has been asked to look at ways of tackling waste with businesses

EDGING CLOSER: Shaun Welford's fifth goal in three games secures another league win for Dover
Picture SIMON HARRIS

Welford nudges Whites closer

ANDY HESSENTHALER'S Dover Athletic increased their stranglehold on the top spot in Ryman Division One South with a hard-fought victory on Saturday.

Shaun Welford was preferred up front and player-manager Hess continued his run in the side in mid-field. On-loan Chelsea midfielder James Simmonds was forced to sit the game out through injury.

The only goal of the game came from a mistake from the Leatherhead goalkeeper just ten minutes into the first half. Welford used his pace to charge down a poor clearance from Aaron France and the ball trickled into the empty net. The goal was his fifth in the last three games.

FOOTBALL

Leatherhead 0 Dover Athletic 1

Dover continued to attack the Leatherhead goal in a bid to increase their lead, but the final ball lacked any cutting edge.

With the sides separated by just the single goal at the break, the home side knew they had a chance to salvage something from the game.

In the second half, Leatherhead put Dover under pressure and their lead at one stage looked fragile and Whites goalkeeper John Whitehouse was called upon twice.

On the first occasion he spilled a cross from the right hand side, but luckily for the former Chatham keeper, Leatherhead's strikeforce were unable to capitalise on the error.

However, Dover's defence were under pressure again and the Surrey side should have equalised, but the unmarked Tanners' striker lifted the ball narrowly over the bar.

In the dying minutes, Dover were denied a penalty, but Welford's goal proved enough for the Whites to record their 27th league victory of the season.

With their nearest rivals Cray Wanderers only managing a 1-1 draw against Croydon Athletic, the Ryman Division One title looks to be heading to Dover.

Deal work hard to make a point

A DAVE BATHGATE penalty ensured Deal Town received a share of the points at The Charles Ground on Saturday.

Derek Hares's side knew it would be a tough game as fifth-placed Erith Town have only lost four games all season. Deal had to work hard for their point after falling behind on 34 minutes.

However, a clinically finished penalty from Bathgate at the start of the second half ensured honours were even at the final whistle.

Mark Pollard's first-half goal failed to earn Deal any points on Easter Monday as they went down 3-1 away to high flying VCD Athletic.

Sharks looking to take bite of title

STILL harbouring title ambitions, Dover RFC have the chance to keep the pressure on London South East 3 when they return to action this Saturday.

The Sharks have been the surprise package of the season and are in contention for back-to-back promotions. The last time Dover tasted a league defeat was back in November. Since then the Sharks have won 13 consecutive matches.

On Saturday, Graham Tonk's side face Aylesford Bulls hoping to secure another valuable two points. Both sides have been in form, but the Sharks have the better record.

ON TARGET: Jimmy Dryden's second-half header earned his table-topping side a point in a tough encounter against a resilient Ashford Town side on Easter Monday

Dryden header spares league leaders' blushes

JIMMY DRYDEN'S second-half header salvaged a point for league leaders Dover Athletic as their progress was slowed by a spirited Ashford Town.

A bumper crowd of 1,324 at Crabble Stadium witnessed a hotly-contested fixture between play-off hopefuls Ashford Town and the potential Ryman South champions, Dover.

Alan Pouton was welcomed back by Dover manager Andy Henthall after recovering from a back injury.

In-form striker Shaun Welford led the front-line with Frannie Collin, while Ashford boss Steve Lovell fielded a changed line-up from the side that lost 2-1 against Whyteleafe.

Town fielded a 3-4-3 formation with Walid Matata, Paul Jones and Mark Lovell up front.

It was Ashford who had the first chance of the game inside 60 seconds when Mitchell Sherwood blazed wide. Dover replied immediately with a Jon Wallis free kick finding Welford, but his header beat the cross bar.

FOOTBALL

■ BY TOM HOWARD

Dover Athletic 1 Ashford Town 1

However, the league leaders' defence was breached with just seven minutes on the clock.

Danny Lye headed an Ashford free kick over the head of Dover goalkeeper John Whitehouse to silence the Crabble crowd.

The home side upped their game in search of an equaliser immediately and the Dover faithful thought they had secured it, but Welford's downward header bounced narrowly wide.

The Whites kept putting pressure on the Town defence, and Jamie Riley was called upon for the first time to save Wallis's 20-yard effort midway through the first half.

The travelling Ashford fans had precious little else to cheer as Dover bossed the game from midfield. However, a quick counter-attack resulted in Jimmy Bottle firing just wide.

Three minutes before the half-hour, Dover had their best opportunity of the match. A Henthall corner caused havoc in the Ashford defence and Danny Braithwaite was forced to clear off the line, but his clearance only reached Alan Pouton, who shot over.

After the break, Dover continued to pen Ashford in their half, but the Town defence stood firm due largely to a solid display from skipper Sean Ray.

On the hour mark, another Ashford counter-attack almost saw them increase their lead, but Ray's header cannoned off the post and into the hands of Whitehouse.

With 20 minutes to go, the Ashford defence was finally breached. Dryden, on as a substitute, met a Wallis free-kick and fired a bullet header into the top corner.

Dover went in search of a winner with noise levels raised around the Crabble. On 80 minutes, Matt Bourne's strike from the edge of the area clipped the top of the bar via Riley.

Neither side could find a winning goal in the dying minutes, but Lovell's Ashford side were the happier at the final whistle.

Cugley: we will escape relegation

Hastings 6 Folkestone Invicta 1

FOLKESTONE INVICTA manager Neil Cugley believes his side need two more wins from the last seven games to ensure they escape relegation from the Ryman Premier.

With the safety mark likely to be set much higher than normal, Invicta cannot take anything for granted, but Cugley believes his side are not far from guaranteeing their survival.

He said: "I think 50 or 51 points will be enough, which is a lot. We have won as many games as we did in the whole of last season already. The lads have done well, they have battled hard and there is a really good team spirit and I'm sure that will get us through."

Cugley's side were hit for six on Easter Monday by a rampant Hastings side.

Invicta went into the Hastings game on a high after battling to a hard-fought win against fellow strugglers Harlow Town.

The game was dominated by a strong wind which swept from one end of the Buzzlins Stadium to another.

Invicta made the most of playing with the breeze in the first half, with Leigh Bremner scoring after 11 minutes when he charged down a hurried clearance from the visiting goalkeeper which rebounded into the net.

The hosts might have made their lead more emphatic before the break, with Bremner, Lloyd Blackman, Tom Webb and Roland Edge all coming close.

In the second half Harlow monopolised the territory but struggled to carve out clear chances.

Teenage stopper Luke Stonebridge was equal to anything the visitors could conjure up and Invicta were rarely troubled en route to a vital win.

Hythe feel the pressure in title race

FOOTBALL

Hythe Town 1 Herne Bay 1

HYPHE TOWN manager Paul Fisk believes his side cannot afford to drop any points in the remaining four games of the season if they are to stand a chance of winning the Kent League title.

Despite Buster Smissen's 47th goal of a profitable season, Hythe came unstuck against a resilient Herne Bay side on Easter Monday that were out for revenge after suffering a defeat to the same side in the Kent Premier Cup last week.

Fisk said: "I think we know we have to win all our games to stay in the hunt. We need Thamesmead to slip up but we can't afford to slip up ourselves so there is pressure on us as well. We could win it on the last day of the season so we have to keep up the pressure."

After losing against Beckenham in their previous league game, Hythe got back to winning ways on Saturday with a hard-fought 2-0 victory at Croydon.

Inclement weather conditions made it difficult for both sides to play with any fluency, but Buster Smissen volleyed the visitors in front after ten minutes for his 46th goal of the season.

Hythe had Tom Adlington sent off in the second half but made the game safe in the dying minutes when Lee Winfield converted a penalty after Smissen was felled in the box.

Fisk was pleased to come away from a potential banana skin with maximum points.

He said: "It wasn't a good game, conditions were horrible with wind, rain and sleet. It was just one of those games where we had to dig deep to get a result and we did it."

On Saturday they travel to play struggling Holmesdale.

SPORTS RALLYCROSS

BACK ON TRACK: Lydden Hill circuit has a bright future ahead

Saved Lydden Hill circuit back in the driving seat

AFTER a winter of uncertainty, the Lydden Hill circuit has a new lease of life and a bright future ahead for the home of British Rallycross.

The future of the Dover circuit, which has hosted rallycross since 1965, was in doubt back in October when the lease expired. However, the circuit was saved by the Doran family, who stepped in to purchase a five-year lease from track owners McLaren International.

Led by the former British Rallycross champion Pat Doran's daughter Amy, the circuit is set for radical changes. A new entrance is planned and capacity is set to be increased to 25,000 with the construction of spectator-friendly grandstands.

The re-development is hoped to attract more championships to host rounds at the Lydden circuit and in turn bring more spectators to the circuit.

Circuit owner Amy Doran told Yourdover: "In the long run we do want to purchase the circuit at the end of the new lease. Our family have always been involved in the sport and this track is close to our hearts. We have done what the spectators have wanted. We have put up grandstands and increased the quality of the facilities. We hope that we can attract bigger events in the future like the European Rallycross Championship."

The former British Champion and fans' favourite Pat Doran has won on many occasions in front of bumper crowds at the circuit and is glad it has been saved. He also hopes that he will return to the top step of the podium in 2008.

He said: "In the winter it was a difficult time for this track. If we had lost this track then the fans would have lost the country's premier facility. This is why we had to step in and do something about it. This is where rallycross was born and in my opinion this is the best track in Europe."

On Easter Monday, the track opened its doors for the first time this season with the start of the British Rallycross Championship.
